TODAY & TOMORROW

APRIL 7-20, 1984

(Newsbriefs continued)

Twenty percent of all crimes reported to the UCSF Police Department in 1983 were car stereo thefts.

The UCSF Police Department recommends the following measures to minimize the possibility of your car stereo being stolen:

- install a good electronic alarm system;
- get decals from the alarm company reading, "This car is electronically alarmed," to place on several windows of the automobile;
- record the serial number, brand name and original cost of the stereo equipment;
- install a good car stereo locking device.

For further information contact the campus crime prevention and loss control officer at x1414.

The Northern California Occupational Health Center at SFGH and the San Francisco unit of the American Lung Association are sponsoring a seminar entitled "Designing an Employee Education Program: Prevention of Work Related Respiratory Disease" on Wednesday, April 25, at the San Franciscan Hotel, Market and 8th streets.

Designed for industrial hygienists, health educators, occupational health nurses, safety specialists and others responsible for providing health and safety education in the workplace, the program will provide medical information about toxins and their impact on the respiratory system and will demonstrate how this technical information can be communicated effectively to employees.

Principal speakers will be occupational health specialist Linda Morse, MD, MPH, UCSF assistant clinical professor, medicine; and industrial hygienist Marge Kovacevich from Shell Oil Co., Martinez.

The course is $35 (reduced fee for health sciences students) and has been approved for 6 CE credits for nurses. To register call Lela Morris at 642-5507 or Kathleen Kahler at 543-4410.

Ramona T. Mercer, RN, PhD, FAAN, has been selected as the Fourth Helen Nahm Research Lecturer. A member of the School of Nursing for some 11 years, Mercer is a professor of maternity nursing in the Department of Family Health Care Nursing.

Recognized in the U.S. and throughout the world for her research on adaptation to motherhood, particularly with regard to teenage pregnancy, and cross-cultural aspects of maternal-infant relationships, Mercer won the 1982 American Nurses' Association and the March of Dimes National Foundation Maternal Child Nurse of the Year Award. She will present her lecture, "Challenges During the First Year of Motherhood," on Friday, June 8.

The Helen Nahm Research Lecture Award recognizes a UCSF School of Nursing faculty member or graduate who has made an outstanding contribution to nursing science and research. The award honors Helen Nahm, RN, PhD, FAAN, professor emeritus and dean of the school from 1958 to 1969. As dean, Nahm developed the clinical specialty master's program and the first comprehensive professional doctoral nursing degree program in the U.S.

Five School of Dentistry faculty members were appointed to national positions in several of the professional societies which gathered at a mid-March meeting of the American Association of Dental Schools (AADS) in Dallas.

John C. Greene, DMD, MPH, dean of the school, was officially installed as vice-president of the American Association for Dental Research (AADR). He will serve a one-year term, becoming president-elect the following year. Greene also presented the paper, "Balancing Academic, Patient Care and Financial Concerns," coauthored by John F. Knapp, assistant professor, restorative dentistry and dental public health and hygiene.

John S. Greenspan, BDS, PhD, divisional chair of oral biology, Department of Stomatology, and professor, pathology, was appointed to a two-year term on the AADR Board of Directors

Nearly 10 percent of the doctors listed by Good Housekeeping's nationwide survey, "The 120 Best Doctors in America," are on the UCSF faculty.

In addition, UCSF schools of Pharmacy and Nursing were named "Number 1" in the country in the just-published 1983 Gourman Report, which rates graduate and professional programs in American and international universities. The School of Dentistry was rated third and the School of Medicine in the top five in the country in the report.

The 10 MDs listed in the April 1984 issue of Good Housekeeping are: Paul A. Ebert, chair, surgery; Robert A. Fishman, chair, neurology; Melvin M. Grumbach, chair, pediatrics; William F. Hoyt, professor, ophthalmology and neurology; William W. Parmley, chief, cardiology; Abraham M. Rudolph, vice chair, pediatrics; Lloyd H. Smith, Jr., chair, medicine; hematologist and oncologist Ralph O. Wallerstein, internal medicine; Charles B. Wilson, chair, neurosurgery; and Donald D. Trunkey, chief of surgery at SFGH.

There were 15 others on the west coast selected—six at UCLA, four at UC-San Diego, two at Stanford, two at USC, and one at UC-Irvine.

The survey asked more than 400 department chairs and clinical program chiefs at 87 medical schools across the country to name the best physicians—leaders in their field—in each of 24 medical specialties. The only two guidelines were that they could not name experts at their own institutions, and that doctors who never see patients should not be cited. Those most often named constituted the Good Housekeeping list.

William E. Hoskins, DDS, associate clinical professor in dentistry and associate dean of student affairs, was elected to the AADS Section on Financial Aid for a three-year progressive term, culminating in the chair. In addition, he has assumed responsibility as the western regional coordinator for the AADS Student Affairs Group.

Storehouse has a new catalogue listing current supplies available to the campus. If your department has not received a catalogue or for additional copies, call x4531.

How quickly and effectively can UCSF respond to a disaster? To help find out, the campus will once again participate in a city-wide disaster drill the evening of Wednesday, April 18.

This year's drill will not include simulated victims, but will test specific hospital areas for staffing, supplies and communication. The drill will be held in the evening to see how personnel who have not participated in previous disaster drills will respond. A larger drill, testing all areas of the campus, will be held next spring.

A new consultation clinic for outpatient angiography—the radiologic imaging of blood vessels—has been established at the Ambulatory Care Center to diagnose and treat vascular problems faster, more easily and at a reduced cost to the patient.

Ernest J. Ring, MD, professor of radiology and an expert in the medical subspecialty called interventional radiology, started the UCSF clinic several months ago to accommodate an increasing number of patients who can benefit from angiography on an outpatient basis.

The clinic is a first on the west coast and is an example of a new trend in radiology. The only other facility is at Johns Hopkins in Baltimore.

Time to strap on those running shoes and stretch out those muscles. The annual Chancellor's Cup Run will be held on Wednesday, April 18, at 12:15 p.m. with Chancellor Krevans on hand as this year's official starter.

The 2.1-mile course begins behind the Langley Porter Institute, goes to the very top of Mount Sutro via Medical Center Way, circles around the Aldea Married Student Housing, and winds back down Medical Center Way.

The race is open to everyone and can be as difficult or as easy as participants want to make it. Registration is free with free T-shirts to the first 50 entrants. T-shirts for $5 also will be on sale after the race. Entry forms are available at the Millberry Union Central and Athletic desks. Advance registration is suggested. Entries, however, will be accepted on the day of the run from 11:15 a.m. to noon at the check-in table near the starting line.

This year, in addition to the prizes donated by local merchants, chances for the drawing determining the runner for UCSF's one-kilometer leg of the 1984 Olympic Games Torch Relay will be awarded. The race is sponsored by the Millberry Union Recreation Department, Synapse, and The Copy Factory.

The School of Nursing Alumni Day will be held on Saturday, April 28, in Room HSW 301. This year's theme is "Economic Changes in Nursing—The Impact of Federal Regulations." Presentations will include:

- "The New Federalism—Strategies and Consequences for Nursing in the 1980's." Beverly Hall, RN, PhD, professor and chair, mental health and community nursing. 11 a.m.
- "The Impact of Changing Economics in the Acute Care Setting." Jane Hirsch, RN, MSN, assistant director for medical nursing and assistant clinical professor, mental health and community nursing. 1:30 p.m.
- "The State of the State." Patricia Underwood, RN, DNS, clinical professor, mental health and community nursing, and president, California Nurses Association. 2:30 p.m.

The first School of Nursing Distinguished Alumni Award will be presented at 10 a.m.

Deadline to register for alumni day is Wednesday, April 18. For further information call x4723.

A symposium to examine infant mortality and morbidity in the Bay Area will be held on Saturday, April 14, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. in Toland Hall.

Bay Area health professionals, including several from UCSF, will discuss the different rates of infant mortality and morbidity among ethnic groups, perinatal services in the public sector, efforts to reduce the frequency of low birth weight, multilingual and multicultural services in perinatal care, comprehensive prenatal care as a medical benefit, barriers to care, social causes of infant mortality, and other issues.

Organizers of the conference point out that according to nationwide figures, black infants in the U.S. are nearly twice as likely as white infants to die before reaching their first year. Since 1950, infant mortality rates for all groups in the country have declined dramatically; however, the gap between death rates of white and black babies has widened, they declared.

In San Francisco, the 1981 mortality rate for black infants was 15.35 per 1,000, compared to 9.79 per 1,000 for all infants in the city, according to a survey by the State Department of Health.

The symposium is free and open to the public. Organized by a group of concerned UCSF students, the program is sponsored by the Department of Epidemiology and International Health, the Department of Family and Community Medicine, Institute for Health Policy Studies, the American Medical Student Association and the Student National Medical Association.

For further information and a complete listing of speakers and topics contact Sandy Lane or Billy Cunningham at 864-2428 or Katy Godfrey at 221-0638.

The UCSF School of Medicine has signed an agreement with the Shanghai Second Medical College to develop a program in which the two institutions exchange visiting faculty and lecturers.

Lange, MD, to help raise funds to finance visits to UCSF by professors, lecturers and junior scientists/researchers from the medical college. Low, presiding justice, California Court of Appeal; Rolland Lowe, surgery; E. Leong Way, pharmacology; and William D.Y. Wu, member, board of directors, SF/Shanghai Friendship Committee. Alan Goldfien, MD, is the school's program coordinator.

The inauguration of David P. Gardner as president of the University of California will take place on Thursday, April 12, at UCLA. Ceremonies will begin at 10:30 a.m. in Royce Hall. Principal speaker will be Lord Eric Ashby, former vice chancellor, Cambridge University.

Margaret Clark, anthropology; John C. Craig, pharmacy; Marilyn Dodd, nursing; Melvin Grumbach, pediatrics; Donald Heyneman, parasitology, epidemiology and international health; Malcolm Jendresen, restorative dentistry; David J. Sanchez, family and community medicine; and Robert Gibson, associate vice chancellor, student academic affairs and registrar.

Also attending as UCSF delegates are staff employees Dorothy Herbert, CVRI; Carol Kreer, Nursing Services; Deanna Neal, pharmacy; Robert Rojas, personnel; and Robert Stephans, pharmacology; and students Andre Campbell, medicine; William Guss, pharmacy; Lawrence Napolitano, dentistry; Esther Patrick, Graduate Students Association; and Phil Schields, Associated Students of UCSF. Friends of the campus Mr. and Mrs. Saul Epstein, Mr. and Mrs. Harry W. Hind, and Mr. and Mrs. J. Gary Shansby also will attend.

The campus community is invited to attend two more informational meetings, reporting on the status of several UCSF projects, on Thursday, April 12, at noon in HSW 302 and at 7:30 p.m. in the Laguna Honda School Conference Room, 1350 Seventh Avenue.

The current proposal on Poly High School will be discussed, as well as plans for the west side of campus and various campus beautification efforts. For further information call x3206.

PARTIAL RECREATION SURVEY RESULTS

A market survey is now under way on the campus to determine what kinds of recreational facilities students, staff and faculty would prefer if facilities could be expanded. With 50 percent of the surveys returned, the order of preference is:

- locker rooms and showers
- swimming pool
- jacuzzi/spa
- Nautilus weight room
- sauna
- racquetball courts

To supplement this, the campus is planning a random sample of neighborhood opinion to find out what types of facilities they would be interested in if available at UCSF.

IN MEMORIAM

Salvatore Pablo Lucia. A '39 School of Medicine graduate, he created what was then the Department of Preventive Medicine and was its chair for 27 years. A professor of medicine & preventive medicine and lecturer in medical history and bibliography, he established the first course in nutrition at UCSF—the first in any US medical school. He became an emeritus professor, and the medical research director of the California Wine Advisory Board in 1968. In 1971 Lucia coordinated a study by 35 physicians, nutritionists and psychiatrists concluding that wine has therapeutic value in ailments including heart disease, diabetes, anemia, tension and premenstrual swelling. Donations may be made to the UCSF Foundation to establish a Salvatore P. Lucia distinguished professorship. Call x5685.

Robert L. Samilson, clinical professor, orthopaedic surgery. A member of the UCSF campus for some 26 years, he developed new surgical techniques for shoulder operations and was the author of the highly regarded textbook, Orthopaedic Aspects of Cerebral Palsy, which has been translated into 16 languages. He maintained a private practice in San Francisco.

Glenn O. Cross, assistant clinical professor, neurological surgery, since 1960. He did his residency at UCSF, VAMC and Stanford from 1946 to 1950, and then went into private practice.

Some 800 alumni, staff, faculty, students and friends of the campus turned out to celebrate UCSF's 111th birthday on Founders Day, March 24.

A touching moment came with the unveiling of the Willard C. Fleming portrait in the lobby of Medical Sciences, in memory of the former dean of the School of Dentistry. Jere Goyan, dean of the School of Pharmacy; Donald W. Martin, president of the UCSF Dental Alumni Association; A. Freeman Bradley, Jr., director of the Research and Development Laboratory; and Clark Kerr, UC president emeritus, spoke on Fleming's warmth and compassion and how those attributes contributed to his remarkable achievements at UCSF spanning more than 50 years.

That afternoon, several hundred people attended a picnic lunch and the Founders Day lectures given by UC President David Gardner and Chancellor Krevans. Another 2,000 staff, students and faculty partied at the kick-off celebration the evening before.

University Service Awards will be given to 116 UCSF employees at a champagne reception on Friday, April 13, from 3 to 5 p.m. in the Millberry Union cafeteria. The awards will recognize 28 employees who reached their 25th year of service to the University and 88 who retired in 1983. The campus community is invited to attend.

Still smoking but enjoying it less? The UCSF Habit Abatement Clinic is accepting applications to their stop smoking program from individuals who are between the ages of 21 and 55 with no heart or lung diseases, stomach ulcers or high blood pressure. Women must not be pregnant.

The clinic will have day and evening sessions at the Langley Porter Psychiatric Institute. To sign up contact Dorothy Ginsberg or Chrystal Tunstall at x77-453. There is a refundable fee of $75.

The Habit Abatement Clinic is part of the Drug Dependency Research Laboratory, directed by Reese Jones, MD.

As an academic health center, UCSF must use several types of materials, some of which have dangerous properties. It is necessary for deans, department chairs, principal investigators and supervisors to establish and maintain programs in their areas to provide information on handling, security and cleanup of all hazardous materials.

The Office of Environmental Health and Safety (EH&S) can help departments develop safety programs, including self-inspection, to meet regulatory requirements.

In the event of a hazardous material spill, the campus Police Department should be called immediately at x1110 in order to secure the affected area and arrange other help if necessary. For further information on EH&S safety programs call x1300.
